

When the survivors of the Magellan expedition returned to Europe in 1522 after circumnavigating the globe, it was found that they were one day behind in their reckoning. The ships had sailed westward in the same direction as the sun moves and in consequence the sun had risen and set once less for them than for the Europeans.

Victoria at Cape Verde Islands.

The last thing Capt del Cano wanted was to stop at Portuguese Cape Verde Islands. Bitter necessity forced him to. The secret leaked out they had been trading in Portuguese waters. All ashore were seized and del Cano had to weigh anchor & flee in haste to save his ship. He had hardly enough hands aboard to man it
